Dear Dr. Crabbe:

Attached is a request to access government records related to the Native Hawaiian Roll Commission.

Our intention in submitting this request is as follows: we have heard that Native Hawaiians registered on one list (such as Kau Inoa) may be automatically included on a larger list maintained by the Native Hawaiian Roll Commission, but that some individuals who previously registered with some other organization may object to being included on the Roll Commission list. We are interested in the process by which an individual can "opt out" of the Native Hawaiian Roll Commission's list – that is, if, for some reason, an individual wants to be on one list (such as Kau Inoa) but has an objection to being on the Native Hawaiian Roll Commission list, how the individual would go about having her/his name removed from the Native Hawaiian Roll Commission list.

If you have any questions or concerns, and/or if you have suggestions for how we may amend this request to minimize any burdens on your staff in responding to this request, please do not hesitate to contact me.

Thank you very much for your time and attention to this matter.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read "Daniel Gluck".

ACLU of Hawaii Foundation Request to Access Government Records

Request for Waiver of Fees in the Public Interest

June 16, 2014

Pursuant to section 2-71-32 of the Hawaii Administrative Rules, the American Civil Liberties Union of Hawaii Foundation ("ACLU") hereby requests a waiver of $60 of the fees that may be assessed under section 2-71-31. The ACLU is a nonprofit, public-interest law firm; our mission is to protect individual freedoms guaranteed under the federal and state constitutions. The ACLU has been engaged in legal action and public education in Hawaii since 1965 on issues affecting constitutional rights.

Public dissemination of the information contained in these documents will contribute significantly to public knowledge and understanding of the Office of Hawaiian Affairs' processes for handling Native Hawaiian registration. This information is not readily available in the public domain. The ACLU has frequently been at the forefront of monitoring and litigating concerns regarding First Amendment and privacy rights. The ACLU has no commercial interest in the documents requested, and intends to publicize this information (as it has done with previous open records requests; see, e.g., Michael Levine, Honolulu Police Load Up on Taser Ammo, Pepper Spray, Bean Bags for APEC, Civil Beat, Sept. 26, 2011, available at <http://www.civilbeat.com/posts/2011/09/26/12961-honolulu-police-load-up-on-taser-ammo-pepper-spray-bean-bags-for-apec/>).

The ACLU of Hawaii has the primary intention to publicize this information by posting the ACLU's request, and the City and County's response, on its website. The ACLU of Hawaii has a page on its website devoted to informing the public about government responses to open records requests, <http://acluhi.org/open-records-requests/>, and the ACLU of Hawaii has the primary intention of posting the State's response on this web page. Additionally, the ACLU has approximately 2,000 members state-wide, and is able to disseminate this information to our members via our newsletter, our Facebook page (which has over 3,000 "friends"), our website (which, in just over two years, has received over 60,000 hits), and our Twitter feed (which has over 1,100 followers). In addition to publicizing these records on our website, the ACLU of Hawaii intends to publicize this information by using some combination of Facebook, Twitter, and/or our newsletter to help spread this information to our members and the general public.

Depending on the nature of the records provided by the Office of Hawaiian Affairs, we may also publicize this information by distributing the records to media outlets such as Civil Beat, the Honolulu Star-Advertiser, Hawaii Public Radio, and/or various other media outlets. We have the ability to distribute this information to the media, insofar as we have a comprehensive e-mail database of media contacts, we have developed strong professional ties to many journalists over our 45-year history, and we interact with journalists on a regular basis.

Requester respectfully asks that, if the total fees for this request (including copying charges) are anticipated to exceed $50.00, Respondent notify Requester and obtain express written permission to proceed with the request.
